

VAIBHAV OJHA

386 C Maloney Hall
Boston College
Chestnut Hill, MA 02467

ojhav@bc.edu
(+1) 734-882-3865

Fields

Labor Economics, Applied Microeconomics, Macroeconomics

Education

Department of Economics, Boston College	Chestnut Hill, MA, USA
Ph.D. in Economics	May 2027 (expected)
Delhi School of Economics	Delhi, India
M.A. in Economics	May 2019
Shri Ram College of Commerce, University of Delhi	Delhi, India
B.A. (Honours) in Economics	May 2017

Working Papers

1. Impact of Remote Work on Equilibrium Wages (Job Market Paper)
2. Breaking Caste Boundaries? Evidence on Village Head Identity & Occupational Structure
3. The Labor Market Effects of Marriage to a Native

Teaching Experience

Boston College

Principles of Economics	Summer 2025
Statistics / Econometrics Lab	2024–2025
Health Economics	Summer 2024
Statistics Theory	Fall 2024

Professional Experience

IWWAGE, IFMR Lead, Research Institute	Delhi, India
Research Consultant	2019–2020
Conducted econometric analysis of large-scale Indian labor surveys (TUS, NSS, PLFS) and developed a theoretical model to study gender-differentiated labor supply responses to technological change.

Awards and Scholarships

Summer Dissertation Fellowships at Boston College	2025
Tuition Remission and Stipend, Boston College	2021-Present

Skills

Programming: $\text{\LaTeX}$, Stata, R, MATLAB

Languages: English, Hindi

References

Prof. Robert Ulbricht
Associate Professor of Economics
Department of Economics
Boston College
robert.ulbricht@bc.edu

Prof. Joanna Venator
Assistant Professor of Economics
Department of Economics
Boston College
joanna.venator@bc.edu